

Filarmonica della Scala delights audience at concert in Budapest

On its international tour through Europe, Filarmonica della Scala performed an extraordinary concert at the Palace of Arts in Budapest yesterday. Led by Riccardo Chailly, the orchestra treated the audience with the following program:

25 January, 2018
Budapest, Bartók Béla National Concert Hall
Riccardo Chailly

Pëtr Iljič Čajkovskij: Symphony n. 2 in C minor op.17

Dmitrij Šostakovič: Lady Macbeth of the Mtsensk District, suite

Igor Fëdorovič Stravinskij: Petrushka (version 1947)

UniCredit has been supporting Filarmonica as a partner since 2000 and in 2003 became its main partner. The most important part of the relationship between UniCredit and Filarmonica is that they share the same goal: to make classical music available to a broader, more diverse audience educating the next generation of concert goers and supporting projects that promote a sense of community and well-being.
