- 4.11. 5.1. At any time during the term of its business relationship with the Customer and with regard to any of its claims, even if the Customer's debts are subject to conditions or deadlines or are not yet due for payment, the Bank shall be entitled to demand that the Customer provide collateral deemed suitable by the Bank, or to supplement the existing collateral, to the extent necessary to guarantee enforcement of the Bank's claims.

Upon the Bank's request, the Customer is obliged to immediately take steps to provide the collateral. The Bank is entitled to decide, taking into consideration the Customer's financial position, what type of collateral it requires from the Customer in relation to the given credit transaction.

In order to secure its claims, the Bank may accept the following types of collateral (or a combination thereof), without limitation:

- a) guarantee, bank guarantee
- b) security (cash, securities, bank account balance)
- c) mortgage
- d) payment guarantee, joint and several guarantee

- d) business shares or shares of companies that have direct control over the debtor/customer or on which the debtor/customer exercises direct control.

5.4. If the Customer fails to meet its payment obligations by the date they fall due, the Bank shall be entitled to enforce its rights originating from any of the collateral, in keeping with the prevailing statutory provisions, in the manner that the Bank deems to be the most effective for the purposes of enforcing its claims. The Bank shall be entitled, at its own discretion, to use the amount collected through such enforcement either to reduce the Customer's debts or as a security deposit.

5.5. The Bank may include as Co-Debtor/Guarantor resident or non-resident natural persons of legal age and capable of acting legally in the loan obligation who have usufructuary/dower rights of the real estate offered as collateral and it may also involve third-party Pledgers as well.

5.6. The Customer's obligations with regard to property, life insurance, and credit insurance: The Customer shall insure/have insured the property or assets serving as collateral for the credit, as well as its assets financed by the loan, and shall take out a life insurance policy, if stipulated by the Bank in the contract defining the conditions pertaining to the transaction. Such insurance must cover all insurable risks. The Customer, in line with the provisions of the contract, shall designate the Bank/have the Bank designated as lien holder/insured/beneficiary in the above insurance contract or policy. During the period in which the asset serves as collateral for the transaction, the Debtor may not modify or terminate the insurance contract without the Bank's consent, and upon the Bank's request shall be obliged to present the insurance policy to the Bank and pay the insurance premiums in full and at due times, and upon request provide the Bank with proof thereof. The Bank shall be entitled to handle any indemnification paid by the insurance company as a security deposit, and either put it the Mortgagor's disposal in order to the appropriate justified restoration of the property serving as collateral, or use it to reduce its claims toward the Debtor resulting from the Loan Agreement on the due date of such claims if the depreciation rate of the property serving as collateral endangers the satisfaction of the Bank. In this latter case the amount of any indemnity (security deposit) remaining in excess of the Bank's claims shall be payable to the Mortgagor.

- 5.7. The Bank shall accept as collateral only separately marketable real estate or parts of real estate which has a land registry sheet and is free and clear of all liens, encumbrances and charges. In exceptional cases and at its own discretion, the Bank may also accept encumbered real estate if the rights or facts registered on the land registry sheet do not hinder the enforcement of the mortgage right.
- 5.8. The Bank shall release the collateral if it judges that the collateral is no longer necessary to secure the Bank's claims or if all claims accrued from the Credit or Loan Agreement have ceased to exist, and no other claims may arise from them.
- 5.9. All costs relating to the provision, maintenance, handling and enforcement of the collateral shall be borne by the Customer.
- 5.10. The Customer shall provide for the maintenance, preservation and protection from damage of assets and rights pledged as collateral in the Bank's favour, as well as of the enforceability of any related financial claims.

The Customer must immediately inform the Bank of any changes to the value or marketability of the collateral. The Bank shall be entitled to check, even through on-site inspections, whether the collateral securing its claims is appropriate, and whether the assets pledged as collateral are being properly managed, operated and protected from damage by the Customer.

The Bank is entitled to carry out a valuation or review of a previous valuation, or to have a valuation performed by an expert, on any real estate and/ or movable property pledged by the Customer as collateral, both prior to the conclusion of the credit or loan agreement and at any time during the term of the agreement. The costs of such valuation shall be borne by the Customer.

- 5.11. Should the precondition(s) for the exercising of a right serving as collateral, or the enforcement of a claim to such collateral, arise during the period in which the collateral is sequestered or otherwise bound in respect of the Credit Transaction, the Bank shall be entitled to exercise that right or to enforce that claim. Thus, the Bank shall be entitled to redeem the securities or certificates of pledge in its possession or enforce the claims assigned to it or transferred to it as collateral, even before its own claim against the Customer fall due, and to use the resulting proceeds either to reduce the Customer's debts or as a security deposit. In such cases, the Bank shall be entitled to take all the measures it deems necessary in order to enforce such claims.
- 5.12. The Customer is obliged to ensure, and assume liability for, the fulfilment of its obligations pursuant to clauses 5.6. and 5.9., even if the Customer is not the owner or holder of the asset or property serving as collateral.
